LEVOLUX WINS A SIGNIFICANT ORDER IN THE USA

Levolux, Alumasc's market leading solar shading and screening business, has won a significant project on the east coast of the USA to design and supply a custom screening solution to a new gas fired power plant. The project is expected to generate approximately £3m of revenue for the group and benefit Alumasc's 2016/17 financial year.

The Levolux solution is to provide an architectural screen around the plant's two buildings to improve their visual impact on the surrounding area. The screen design is based upon the patented "Infiniti system" of extruded horizontal aluminium aerofoil louvres fixed to each building through concealed fixings giving the louvres a seamless appearance.

Paul Hooper, Group Chief Executive commented "We are delighted that Levolux has secured such a large and prestigious contract. This demonstrates Levolux's increasing success in developing its presence in the North American market".
